Legacy nominations from Historic England listing advice reports

In line with Chapter 9 of the Technical Guide, heritage assets recognised to potentially hold appropriate heritage significance under another credible assessment procedure are automatically migrated to 'Legacy Candidate' status. There is no requirement to complete a detailed assessment of their heritage values under the Selection Criteria before they are considered by the Assessment Panel.

The following legacy nominations were identified as holding local heritage interest by Historic England (formally English Heritage) in its Advice Reports to unsuccessful applications for statutory listing.

Where nominations were covered by one or more of the other credible assessment procedures, these sources were taken into account.

The Assessment Panel considered the candidate's eligibility for local listing and its heritage significance before arriving at its recommendation.
